POVERTY EQUITY SOCIAL JUSTICE COURSE CONNECTION

POVERTY EQUITY SOCIAL JUSTICE (PESJ) Course Connection offers courses related to poverty, equity and social justice from multiple disciplines: black world studies, economics, education, history, English, philosophy, sociology, women and gender studies, biology, music and art.

The goals of the connection are:
- Develop awareness of how different disciplines address issues of equity and social justice
- Develop an understanding of theories concerning equity and/or social justice from multiple disciplines
- Examine how systems of power and privilege operate to affect issues of equity and/or social justice in specific practice or theoretical context
- Critique solutions to a real life equity and/or social justice problems using the lens of multiple disciplines
- Articulate one’s ethical/moral responsibility to challenge the status quo

If you are interested in the PESJ course connection and need more information how to complete it over the course of your studies at OWU, please contact Prof. Gitter, rjgitter@owu.edu, PESJ course connection coordinator